In addition, between conferences and technical talks, all areas of the copper value chain will be covered in Plenary Conferences and nine Symposiums”, informed Sergio Demetrio, President of the IIMCh.

He added that five Short Courses have been planned, to be held on Sunday, November 13, and Technical Visits on November 17. Therefore this noble metal is at the heart of the fight against climate change and global warming of the planet.

Finally, Sergio Demetrio called on all professionals related to the mining sector and related industries to register and be part of this important meeting, which brings together experts from the sector in Chile.

“For our Institute, it is an honor to be in charge of developing COPPER 2022 in Chile, both because of the prestige that mining in our country and its professionals have, and for being the hosts of the main exponents of the sector at an international level. Therefore, I invite you to meet in November and be part of those who will highlight the importance of mining for the challenges that come in the future and where copper will be the protagonist”, concluded the President of the IIMCh, Sergio Demetrio.
